

As a subscriber to XM and paying for its services I do so because I value all of the programming on XM. One of the most indispensable set of channels that XM offers me and other fellow truckers are the weather and traffic update channels. This service saves me untold time delivering consumer goods and helping to conserve my hours of operation, and not to mention the fatigue this saves me as well as the others that listen to the channels. I know that the NAB contends this takes from their local programming, but when a good deal of the traffic conditions are endured by truckers who don't know what local stations offer the traffic updates and when they do it. So, by that point alone it's nonsense to cancel these stations. Imagine going through an accident site where most of the trucks have been able to avoid it, does that not affect any commute positively ?
